How it works

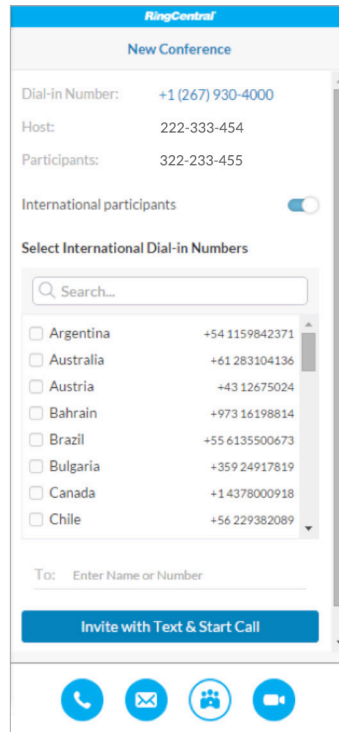

RingCentral for Skype for Business lets you easily collaborate with anyone, not just your Skype contacts. Once the app is installed, you can log in and make calls, send texts, start audio conferences, or hold online meetings right within the app.

Answer or make calls to any number without switching between your phone and the app.

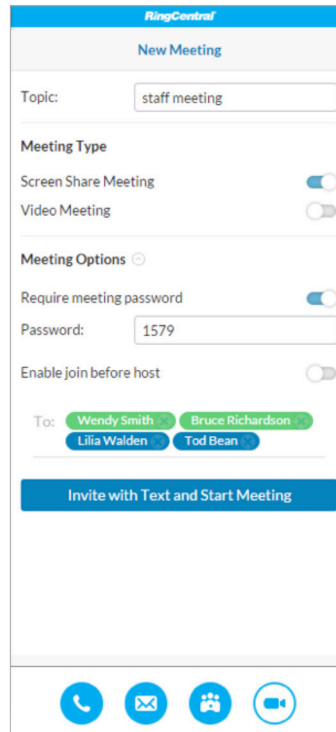

Answer, hang up, mute/unmute, hold, transfer, flip, and record calls using the integrated on-screen controls.

Set up and use unique caller IDs to meet various business needs.

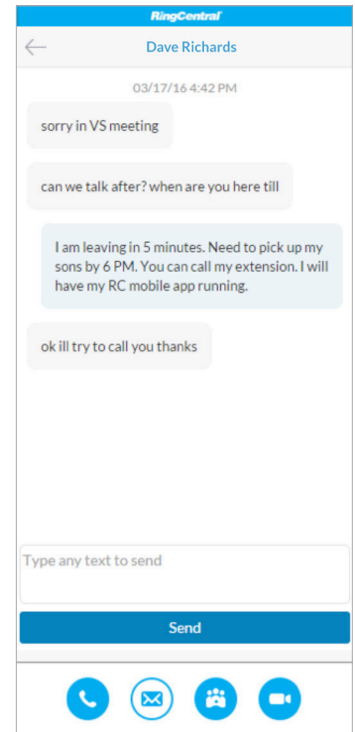

Invite anyone to an instant call featuring a unique conference access number. You can even include international dial-in numbers.

Start an audio conference with up to 1,000 participants with just one click.

Send an invitation to any phone number or contact to start a screen share or video meeting. Choose to set a meeting password or whether to enable participants to join before the host. Advanced in-meeting features offer further control.

Send a text to any phone number, contact, or a group with one click. You can easily view recent text messages and past conversations within the app.
